READ THROUGH THE BIBLE IN-DEPTH STUDY PLAN

The Bottom-Line:

- 1) Read through the Old Testament in a year by reading on average just three chapters each day.
- 2) Read through the New Testament in 3 years by reading one book or large passage each day for a month.

The Details:

The Old Testament is largely narrative in structure, so reading passages are often just like reading a story (albeit, a true story). The New Testament is more nuanced in language and needs extra study to fully grasp its meaning. Not only that, but the New Testament should be the thrust of our focus because in it we discover Jesus who is: the fulfillment of everything the Old Testament was pointing to. We must know the OT and not make the error of many people to "just skip to the good parts." But the NT is really where we must give greater diligence in study for our "life and doctrine" (1 Tim. 4:16).

Most New Testament books are letters, meant to be read in their entirety. The vast majority can be read in under 15 minutes. For lengthier books - e.g. Acts, John, Matthew – you can break up the books into sections and focus on each for a month. Read each book/passage every day and just when you think you can't possibly get more out of reading it again, God will illuminate His inexhaustible Word in new ways. In 36 months, you'll have such a deep, rich handle of the New Testament that you will learn its message at the core of who you are. It will ooze out of you because you have spent so much time reading, meditating, and applying.
